

After reviewing the State of Illinois guidelines regarding “essential business” status, it is determined that Fitzgerald Marketing and Communications LLC clearly falls into the necessary business service provider category. The primary markets that we service are financial services companies (investment firms, banks, clearing firms and exchange related companies). Many of our services are technology driven involving 24/7 correspondence with client back office and communication operations. It is critical that we are operational. We remain very concerned with the spread of COVID-19. With that in mind, we have asked all employees to work from home to the maximum extent possible. Our warehouse, production, fulfillment and delivery staff will continue to come into the office on a staggered schedule to allow us to properly space all human contact. We know that many of our clients will need product and delivery of materials. The staff is in place to facilitate all that is requested. It is business as usual in a very unusual time.

I wish to thank all FitzMC team members, their families, our suppliers and associates for the support and understanding they have demonstrated during this challenging period. To our clients we wish to express so much gratitude for the confidence that you placed in us to be an important partner in the successful continuation of your business. We are in this together. We are with you. We will not let you down. I know that the United States is the greatest country in the world. Our ingenuity and dedication to making the world a better place is solving this problem. We will learn from this and be a greater nation because we are all working together.

Best,
Pat
